"Did Inspector Cross give you a list of dirorderly houses in Churchill's precinct?" asked Mr. Rosalsky.
"Yes, he did." answered Ayres.
Ayres had a copy of the list. Mr. Rosalsky took it. The lawyer brought out that Ayres did not visit several places on the list. In explaining Mr. Ayres said he couldn't visit them all, as he didn't have time.

Far-Seeing Politicians Believe Murphy's Liquor Traffic Will Frighten Away a Class of Voters the Organization Is Desirous of Capturing.

Charles F. Murphy, who will probably be named to-morrow night the successor of Lewis Nixon, as leader of Tammany Hall, presents a curious and striking contrast to the scholarly young ship-builder.

Murphy is a typical east side politi cian. He began life as a barkeeper, and at present owns two saloons, which are in his brother's name, and is reported be interested in several more. He i enough to conceal his ignorance by arely opening his mouth.

TAMMANY LEADERS DISLIKE FREEDMAN

The keynote of the feeling in Tamnany Hall was struck to-day by Senator Plunkitt. It is opposition to Andrew Freedman. Friends and enemies of Richard Croker alike were indignant when they read this morning a report that Freedman had been ordered to give them advice. Several leaders gathered at Tammany Hall and what they said about Andrew Freedman was assuredly warm.
